5 schools win $1000 of units!

WORLD FIRST ... 28 ONLINE INTERACTIVE VELs UNITS

Teaching Without Telling and eUP invite you to the launch of an exciting curriculum innovation AND a viewing of the latest, enhanced version of eUP (electronic Unit Planner).

Educational Consultants Karen Green and Amanda Dressing from 'Teaching Without Telling' are using eUP to write a 2 Year Scope and Sequence of 28 units addressing VELs for students in Levels 1-4

These comprehensive units are concept driven, guided inquiries. They include all aspects of best practice curriculum planning including; Habits of Mind, Multiple Intelligences, Bloom's Taxonomy and more.

All resources required to teach these units are included electronically, as well as videos showing teachers how to use tools and strategies in their classrooms.

The first 4 units, based on the concept of 'Identity', will be available to Primary Schools from October 13th 2010. All other units will be available at least one term in advance.

Every person attending this launch will have free, one week access to a unit designed around the concept of 'Sustainability' using a personalised eUP login.

One school will win $14,000 worth of curriculum including a free eUP subscription (to the value of $2835).

Where: Melbourne Conference and Exhibition Centre

When: Wednesday October 13th from 4.00-5.30pm

A delicious afternoon tea will be provided
